

THE MAYOR'S SHARP TALK

CAUSES MR. THOMPSON TO SEND IN A RESIGNATION.

AN ADDRESS FULL OF GOOD SENSE.

The General Council Meets in Regular Session—A Fight on the Dealers in Second-Hand Clothing. The Street Work Produces a Long Debate. The Tax Committee Sends in a Paper—The Market House Question.

Mayor Glenn is getting there with both feet. Immediately after Clerk Goldsmith had completed the roll-call in the general council yesterday afternoon, the mayor, with a paper in his hand, arose saying:

Members of the General Council: I conceive it to be my duty to call your attention to some matters in the city government as need investigation or require a remedy. I have devoted some time to an examination of the expenditures in the relief department, and I am afraid that the city's charity is being expended extravagantly and without judgment. I am examining by your body demonstrates that I am correct, some change should be made at once in that department. As an illustration of what I mean I will mention the fact that the total number of burials in the city during the month of January was one hundred and twenty-five (125), and of this number the city was charged with the expense of burying eighty-five (85)—or more than two to one—of the burials in the city during the month of January. These figures are reported to me as correct. The percent which the paupers bear to the self-supporting people of this city is very small—no more than two or three per cent—and the number of paupers should be somewhere nearer that proportion. I do not mean by what I have stated to reflect at all upon the relief committee. It is impossible for them to devote any more time than they have to the discharge of their duty, and I know that they are as anxious as any of us to have the relief fund judiciously expended.

On September 3 your predecessors passed an ordinance providing for the election of a fifth captain of police and a third stationhouse keeper. I am convinced that neither is necessary, and I recommend that you repeal that ordinance. The police commissioners have never elected a fifth captain, and may never do; but the existence of a vacant office presents a temptation to fill it. The stationhouse keeper remains indoors, is not exposed to the weather, and I can imagine no reason why he cannot serve twelve hours. By a resolution a third guard was provided for the cemetery. I am informed by those who know that two are sufficient. I have prepared an ordinance which I submit with this communication repealing the ordinance of September 3, and allowing the election of only two guards for the cemetery. I will have the city several hundred dollars of unnecessary expense.

I call your attention to the very loose manner in which the business of the city is generally conducted, and to the absence of check upon the different departments of the several departments. I am not sufficiently acquainted with the machinery to point out all the defects and to suggest the proper remedies, but I will venture the assertion that no city of similar size ever conducted its business as long as this city has without a general set of books kept by some officer, in which entries are made of all receipts and all expenditures. Should not such a set of books be kept for this city. Respectfully submitted.

During the address there was a perfect silence. At first the members looked from one to another, surprise clearly pictured upon their faces, then they turned their optics upon the mayor and heard him through.

That address was something unusual, as Atlanta's mayors have not been in the habit of criticizing the city officers.

It speaks for itself, however, and shows that Mayor Glenn is opened-eyed and cautious.

E. M. Coker After Perry Chisholm.

The bank of the state of Georgia and F. M. Coker presented a petition for the abatement of a nuisance. The paper cited the fact that the bank had a frontage on Kenny's alley, and asserted that a piece of W. P. Chisholm's property occupied ten feet of the alley.

This, the petition declared, rendered the alley useless and injured the bank property. The petitioners wanted the general council to declare so much of the Chisholm building as extended upon the alley a nuisance and order the nuisance abated.

"But can we do that?" asked Mr. Howell. "Any nuisance that affects the health of the city can be abated," said the mayor.

"It appears to me," said Mr. Inman, "that if the city interferes in this matter that we will have to carry on a law suit with Mr. Chisholm."

"I would like to hear from the city attorney," said Mr. McCaslin.

Mr. Goodman, the city attorney, stated that nuisance other than those affecting health could be abated.

"I move," said Mr. Amorous, "that the matter be referred to the city attorney and the committee on streets."

It was done.

The Chapel Street Trouble.

Messrs. J. M. McAfee and S. A. Orr, assessors, to ascertain the damage on Chapel street, submitted a paper in which the property owners agreed to give five feet of their property for widening the street, provided the city would put down the curbing and sidewalk and rest the fence.

Judge Collier secured the floor, the rules having been suspended.

"When the matter came up," he said, "I agreed to give the alley, which is thirty-one feet, for a street, provided the city would give north side would give nine feet. That would give us a forty-foot street, which would be enough. But five feet would do much good. I am giving thirty feet, and I feel satisfied that if the alley was made a street the city would be benefited by it in the way of increased taxation. Now, Mr. McAfee is disposed to be liberal with his property."

Is it, Mr. McAfee, the assessor, who has property there?" asked Mr. McCaslin.

"Yes, sir; it is the same gentleman," said Judge Collier.

"Then I move that we refer the entire matter to the street committee," said Mr. McCaslin.

The motion was adopted.

The Market House.

A paper from the market commission showing the work done was read.

"What will you do with that communication, gentlemen?" asked the mayor.

"I move that it be referred to the market committee," said Mr. Haas.

Mr. Hirsch, the chairman of that committee, is not present, said Mr. Inman. "But we met with the market commission, and that paper was sent here to ascertain what should be done."

Mr. Howell introduced a resolution providing for an election, the vote being a market or no market.

"Now," said the gentleman, after reading the resolution, "this market house question has been worrying me ever since I have been a member of this body. If the people want a market house, let's get to work and build it; and if they don't, let's quit talking about it and spending money in that direction. This election will decide it."

"But you can't make people vote," said Mayor Glenn.

"They will vote if we have the election," said Mr. Howell.

"We have enough elections now," said Mr. Hemphill, "and I move to table Mr. Howell's motion."

Mr. Meador favored Mr. Howell's resolution, but before he had said much Mr. Haas interrupted him, saying:

"Mr. Mayor, I would like to say that it is not parliamentary to discuss a motion to table."

"I am aware of that fact," remarked Mayor Glenn, "but we are not working under those rules just now."

Everybody laughed except Mr. Haas. The motion to table prevailed.

The Street Improvements.

Mr. Woodward, chairman of the street committee, presented an ordinance paving Richardson street.

"Before we vote on that," remarked Mr. Inman, "I should like to know how much money has been passed up on street work."

"About $80,000," said Clerk Goldsmith.

"Let's see," said Mr. Inman, "is $180,000 too much? That's a little over a third."

"You are safe yet," remarked Clerk Goldsmith.

The ordinance was adopted.

Mr. Woodward read another ordinance for street work, but before it was put upon its passage Mr. Hemphill said:

"What have you done with those ordinances which the aldermanic board sent back because they were not perfected?"

"That's another thing I'd like to know," said Mr. Inman, "is the money for that work among the $80,000 passed up?"

"Oh, no," said the mayor.

The ordinance was passed.

THE DEFERRED ORDINANCES.

The clerk took up the deferred ordinances. They were read and passed. They were:

1. Paving West Fair street from Whitehall to Peters at an estimated cost of $16,500.

2. Paving Ivy street from Houston to Peachtree street at an estimated cost of $6,000.

3. Paving Mitchell street from Pryor street to Washington street at an estimated cost of $6,000.

4. Paving Cain street from Peachtree street to Clifford street at an estimated cost of $9,000.

5. Paving Richardson street from Pryor street to Windsor at an estimated cost of $2,000.

"Now, we have two more here," said Mr. Woodward, "Jackson street and the Boulevard. But we don't know what to do with them now as we have no funds to be bothering the finance committee."

"I suggest," said Mr. Moran, "that those papers go back to the street committee again. You can't do anything with them here."

"There is no snarl with the committee," said Mr. Woodward, "we have agreed and made a favorable report. It's the want of funds."

As Mr. Woodward concluded his remarks he glanced towards Mr. Inman, chairman of the finance committee.

"I think those two streets ought to be passed up," said Mr. McCaslin, "the people out there want the work done, and should have it. When we had the exposition it was impossible to get to the grounds over those streets."

"I move that the rules be suspended," said Mr. Woodward, "that a street railroad be to be built over one of the streets. But if all that work is passed up, then we haven't the money to do this."

"When I caused this investigation," said Mr. Moran, "I did not do so with any thought of discrimination, and I now move to adopt that report."

The report was adopted.

In obedience to a resolution," said Mr. Middlebrook, "the investigation, the exemption of certain properties, we leave to report:

1. That the three Atlanta University school buildings and ten acres around the same, also the theological building, belonging to the same, and one acre of land be exempted, and that all the other property be taxed.

2. That the store part of the Gate City Guard armory, corner Peachtree and James streets, be taxed.

AN ATLANTA CHAPTER

TO THE FAMOUS HAWES MURDER CASE.

A NEGRO GIRL'S QUEER STORY.

Chief Connolly is Investigating What May Prove to be a Most Interesting Feature of the Hawes Case—The Constitution Does Some Investigating.

Another chapter has been added to the story of the Hawes tragedy.

And this time the scene is laid in Atlanta. The talk caused by the news in Sunday's extra edition of THE CONSTITUTION has brought to light a story which, though not fully developed, is being investigated by Chief Connolly and the true inwardness of the matter will doubtless reach the public very soon.

On Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collins, who live at 115 Harrison street, were talking about the developments in the Hawes case, Annie Roland, a fifteen-year-old colored girl, who is employed there as a servant, said that she had heard the name of the man who saw the crime committed. She then told the following story to Mr. and Mrs. Collins:

"I was over at Mrs. Thompson's on Kelly street about a month ago, seeing for a lady who lived there, and I heard the lady say that Mrs. Thompson's brother came there a few days before that and looked like he was nearly scared to death. The lady said she had overheard Mrs. Thompson telling it to Mr. Thompson when he came home, and it was that the man came there and said he was a great hurry, and Mrs. Thompson asked him why he was in such a hurry. He said he had to be in a hurry, as he had been to the Hawes murder, and had to get away. Mrs. Thompson asked him what that was and he said, 'Nothing, only I was there and saw it.' Here there is a little difference in the recollection of those who heard the girl tell the story the first time. Mrs. Collins says the girl said she heard it from the lady that the man said he helped kill Mrs. Hawes. Another lady who heard the girl's story says it was that the man said he 'saw' the murder committed.

The story went on—the girl quoting the lady from whom she claims to have heard it as follows:

"He was the dirtiest, grasiest looking man almost that I ever saw, and wore rough clothes, but they gave him another suit and some other man's overcoat, and he was in the car two days. Then his sister gave him some money and he went off through the woods.

"He man told her what he had weighed the body of the little girl down with a piece of railroad iron about so long (20 inches) and how he thought it never would come to the top, but it did."

This was the girl's story as first told. "She has told the story several times," said Mrs. Collins, "and it differed sometimes in the particulars, but it was always the same in substance. She is somewhat afraid to talk now, and asked me if they could take her to the courthouse for telling it."

A CONSTITUTION reporter called at Mr. Collins' residence about noon yesterday and talked with the girl. She told parts of the same story but was evidently embarrassed and said little except in answer to questions. She answered the questions in a straightforward way, but said as little as possible. She mentioned the railroad iron voluntarily in that interview, however. She is a perfectly black negro girl, apparently fourteen or fifteen years old, and has a face rather better than ordinary. Mrs. Collins says Annie has been with her six weeks, and seems to be a very good girl.

During the afternoon Chief Connolly called with THE CONSTITUTION reporter to see the girl again, but she had been sent down town. Mrs. Collins repeated the story as it was first told her by the girl.

WHO IS MRS. THOMPSON'S BROTHER? The question then arose, who is Mrs. Thompson's brother?

It was learned by inquiry that she had but one brother, Halden Britt, known as Horse Britt, who formerly lived at Birmingham and worked in a rolling mill.

A gentleman was found who said, "I know Horse Britt perfectly well and I saw him here and shook hands with him about a month ago. I asked him what he was doing and he told me that he had been working in a rolling mill. That was as near as I can remember a month ago. It could not have been over two months ago. I am positive that it was Britt for I know him well and was not mistaken in the man."

A DESCRIPTION OF HORSE BRITT. The gentleman described Britt's personal appearance as follows:

"Age 28, height 5 feet 4 inches, eyes small, dark and close together and have a very bright look, complexion dark and very freckled, color of hair dirty brown, stoop shouldered, general appearance that of a very strong, rough man, wears rather rough clothing."

AT MR. THOMPSON'S HOUSE. Mr. J. J. Thompson is a job printer of good reputation and does a good job business on Broad street. He lives at 33 Kelly street in a cottage of three or four rooms. The house is set on the slope of a hill, and might or might not have a basement.

When THE CONSTITUTION's representative called there Mrs. Thompson was not at home, but a lady, who said she lived next door. She said in reply to questions that Mr. Britt, Mrs. Thompson's brother, had not been there since the first day of the Piedmont exposition, and she was sure that he could not have been there within the last two months without her knowing it. She said further that Mr. Britt was married, and Mrs. Thompson had received a letter from him about six weeks ago, saying that he was living with his family in Chattanooga. She thought he worked in a foundry.

MR. THOMPSON INTERVIEWED. Mr. Thompson was next seen at his office, and asked:

"Where is Horse Britt? Has he been here within the last two months?"

"Why do you want to know?" he replied.

"Because his name has been connected with the Hawes tragedy."

"No, he has not been here since the Piedmont exposition. There is some mistake about the story. If he has been here within the last two months I don't know it, and I am sure he could not have come to Atlanta without my knowing it, for he always comes to see his sister, who is my wife."

"Where is he now?"

"He is in Chattanooga."

"You don't think it possible for him to have been here within the last two months?"

"No, he has not been here since the exposition. I think my wife has a letter that she received from Mrs. Britt six weeks ago, saying that her husband was there in Chattanooga then. He could not have been in Birmingham at the time of the Hawes murder. He left Birmingham six months ago."

"What is he doing in Chattanooga?"

"He has been working in the rolling mills; I don't know whether he worked for the South Treadwell Iron works or some other."

"In what part of the city did he live?"

"I think it was in the fifth ward."

Mr. Thompson said that he knew Horse Britt well, as he had raised him from the time he first knew him at home. His right name was Halden Britt. He had not been doing well lately, as he had been drinking.

The following description of Britt is given by Mr. Thompson:

He is a very strong, double-jointed man; has been working in the rolling mills all his life. He is no taller than myself (about 5 feet 8 inches), but is much heavier. Has gray eyes and light hair, but not sandy; it could hardly be called brown.

NOT KNOWN IN CHATTANOOGA. After Mr. Thompson's interview it was a matter of special importance to know whether Horse Britt was living in Chattanooga.

Accordingly a telegram was sent to THE CONSTITUTION's correspondent asking him to find out whether Halden Britt, known as Horse Britt, was in Chattanooga, where he was reported to be employed by some of the iron mills, and requesting the correspondent to find whether Britt's name was on any of the pay rolls of the mills.

This telegram was sent at half past five o'clock, and the correspondent, after taking until midnight to investigate, reported as follows:

"Horse Britt has arrived in Chattanooga; he has given a fictitious name. He is not known here, and no trace of him can be found."

Chief of Police Pickard, of Birmingham, was asked the same question, and replied: "Can't find out anything tonight. Will investigate tomorrow." O. A. Pickard, Chief of Police.

IN SEARCH OF HIS WIFE.

Mr. J. W. McArthur is Looking for the Woman he Married Three Weeks Ago.

"Have you found her yet?"

The question was addressed to Detective Bedford yesterday afternoon by a middle aged, farmer-looking man. The detective said that he had not and with a troubled look on his face the man walked out of police headquarters and on down Pryor street.

His name was J. W. McArthur.

He was looking for the wife he married three weeks ago.

The circumstances are these: Nearly a month ago Mr. McArthur, a widower with two or three children, married a Clayton county, and withal, a very handsome, widow named Mrs. R. C. Thomas.

Mrs. Thomas is the mother of a daughter about grown.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McArthur, with the daughter, came to Atlanta and began housekeeping on Hood street.

Saturday morning Mrs. McArthur mysteriously disappeared from her home. Saturday night Mr. McArthur became alarmed at his wife's absence and began a search.

Yesterday morning, hopeless of finding his wife by his own efforts, he reported the matter at police headquarters, and Detective Bedford and Mr. McArthur were detailed to assist Mr. McArthur in his search for a wife.

The only message, and the only clew however slight, as to Mrs. McArthur's whereabouts are two letters written by Mrs. McArthur, one written to Mr. McArthur and the other to her daughter.

Both of them are postmarked "Atlanta," and dated so, and both of them bear a green ten-cent stamp for immediate delivery.

In the one to her husband Mrs. McArthur simply says that she cannot live with him longer as his wife and is tired of trying. "You need not try to find me," she concludes, "for I will not go back even if you find me."

There is nothing penitent or prayerful about the letter, and it is appropriately brief.

The letter to the daughter is a trifle more affectionate.

"I will not be so far off," says she, "but I can keep watch for my daughter."

Mr. McArthur thinks that his wife is here, and doesn't hesitate to call her by a name, rather. The husband was formerly a resident here, and kept a blacksmith shop just outside the city limits of Clark university. He preached occasionally, too. Of late years he has lived, until recently, in Orlando, Fla., and says that he was a member of the police force there.

His wife was born and has lived all her life in Clayton county, and it is possible that she has gone back there.

Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood, which Hood's Sarsaparilla neutralizes, and thus cures rheumatism.

HAD TWELVE HOURS REST.

In reply to the claim of the relatives of Brakeman Langley, who was injured on Saturday, the East Tennessee officials claim that Langley had twelve hours rest just before going out on his Saturday run. He reported for duty at the expiration of the time allotted for his lay-off and made no complaint of having had too little rest.

WHERE TO BUY

Fresh Groceries—Fancy Butter a Specialty—Fancy Flour.

It is a rare occasion that after the busy rush of December holidays that January's trade in any line is good, but we will state that since January 1st business has been brisk, each day bringing new faces, and increased orders from our daily customers; hence our business during the past thirty days has been more than we expected. We wish to increase our credit patronage, and will extend thirty days time from the 1st of each month to respectable, prompt-paying customers. We will give you the freshest goods in Atlanta. Our patronage is of such magnitude as to necessitate daily orders ourselves for fresh goods of all kinds from the manufacturers.

During this week we will offer fancy white Saratoga chips, new pickles of all kinds, also a fine line of new process crackers. We believe we have the finest, crisp and palatable crackers to be had in Atlanta, which same can only be found at our store. Good food is a requisite of good health, or biscuit. If you will come to our store we will show you the purest, whitest and best. It is the finest, highest grade in the world. Try one can and be convinced. We put it up in fifty cent and one dollar cans. We have just received another lot of that A. & M. C. butter. If you want a fancy butter, our store is the place to get it. We have also received an invoice of that extra quality, large grain head rice, Charleston head rice, the best to be found in Atlanta. Be sure and come down to our store and see our new stock of fancy canned fruits. Commencing Monday morning, we will mark down those large 25 cent per pound prunes to 17½ cents. Parties who will bring us proper credentials, we will extend thirty days time to them, and give them fresher, better goods, and save them twenty per cent. Hoyt & Thorn, 90 Whitehall st. Feb 5-11

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 16, 1888

DEAR SIR—With much pleasure I am happy to say I am a well woman today, and have gained 37 pounds since I stopped taking morphine. After taking the first dose of your medicine did not want any more morphine, and my friends who saw me a month before I started taking your medicine did not know me. You have made me a well and hearty woman, and I hope God will bless you and that you may cure all afflicted, for when a woman gets into the habit she had as well be dead. When I left Cedar Keys and came here, and when your medicine gave out I was all right. I wanted to wait and see if I would remain so. Doctor, you can use my name if you wish. I was taking six grains morphine a day. Your obedient servant and sincere friend.

How much the health depends on pure flour is a question of daily importance to every man, woman and child in the country. POSTEL'S
"ELEGANT" is pure and as white as pure flour can be made. It is all made from selected wheat. There is no equal in this market, and we do not believe it can be surpassed in any market in the world.

THE EXPERIMENT FARM.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEET AT THE CAPITOL AND ORGANIZE.

THE ENTIRE BOARD PRESENT.

Mr. J. B. Park, of Greensboro, Elected Secretary--
The Committee of the Trustees of the State University Address the Board on the Subject of Drawing the Appropriation for the Fiscal Year Ending July 1st, 1889--Another Meeting Today.

In obedience to the call of the governor, the board of directors appointed, under the law, for the location and management of the Geo-gia experimental station, met at the capitol yesterday afternoon and organized by electing a secretary.

ALL HERE.

There were present Hon. John T. Henderson, state commissioner of agriculture, ex-officio president of the board; Rev. W. E.
Boggs, D. D., chancellor of the university, ex-officio; Professor H. C. White, Ph. D., state agricultural and mechanical college, and the following practical farmers:

First district, G. M. Ryals, Savannah; second, J. M. Rushin, Boston; third, W. Brady, Americus; fourth, J. H. Mobley, Hamilton;
fifth, W. L. Peck, Conyers; sixth, Eden Taylor, Forsyth; seventh, Felix Corput, Cave Spring; eighth, B. H. Park, Jr., Greensboro; ninth, J. N. Twitty, Jefferson; tenth, P. J.
Berkmans, Augusta.

THE SECRETARY ELECTED.

President Henderson called the meeting to order, and the organization of the board was perfected by the election of Mr. J. B. Park, Jr., as secretary.

Mr. Brady submitted rules for the government of the board, which were on motion referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Brady, Rushin and Corput.

A motion of Mr. Peck that the act creating the board be read was carried, and Professor White read the same.

DRAWING FOR TERMS OF OFFICE.

Mr. Taylor moved that the members of the board proceed to draw for their respective terms of office. The motion was adopted and the drawing resulted as follows:

Mr. Ryals, one year; Mr. Rushin, one year;
Mr. Twitty, two years; Mr. Berkmans, two years; Mr. Brady, three years; Mr. Taylor, three years; Mr. Corput, four years; Mr.
Peck, four years; Mr. Mobley, five years and Mr. Park, five years.

THE BY-LAWS.

Mr. Corput moved that the committee on by-laws be given until the next meeting of the board to report on the same, with the understanding that, by that time, the by-laws shall be perfected for the government of the directors and also of the officers of the station.
Adopted.

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION.

Professor White offered a resolution that a committee of five be appointed on a plan of organization for the experiment station, to be reported at the next regular meeting. The resolution was adopted, and Professor White, Messrs. Peck and Berkmans were made the committee.

A motion by Mr. Berkmans that the organization shall be perfected before any committees shall be appointed before the board was carried.

It was moved and carried that the Hatch bill be read. Professor White read the bill.

THREE PAPERS ELECTED.

Mr. Berkmans moved that the secretary proceed to advertise for sixty days for bids for the construction of the station, as contained in the law. Mr. Rushin moved to amend by adding the president of the board, and the motion
as amended was carried.

Mr. Corput offered a resolution that the directors proceed by ballot to elect three newspapers in which advertisements for bids shall be inserted. The chairman and secretary of the board, Mr. Corput, carried.

On the first ballot THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION received 11 votes--the Savannah News 9,
the Macon Telegraph 5, the Americus Recorder 5, the Augusta Chronicle 3, the Home Telegraph 2 and the Columbus Enquirer 1.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and the Savannah Morning News were elected, and on the second ballot the Americus Recorder was elected. That paper having received 8 votes and the Macon Telegraph 5.

AN IMPORTANT COMMITTEE HEARD FROM.

Mr. Berkmans moved that the committee appointed by the trustees of the State University to meet with the board be heard from.
The motion prevailed, and ex-Governor
Henry D. McDaniel, Mr. A. L. Hull and Mr.
Henry W. Grady addressed the board on the subject of allowing the trustees of the State university to draw the $7,500 appropriated by the United States government and due on April 1st, 1889 and July 1st, 1889.

THE LINE OF BUSINESS.

The line of remark was as follows: That on the strength of this appropriation by the government certain contracts have been made for this year by the representatives of the trustees of the university of Georgia, for the payment of salaries of new professors and instructors
of the State Agricultural and Mechanical college at Athens--that the appropriation or the other portion of it, would be needed to meet the obligations thus incurred--and in the event of the directors selecting a place other than Athens for the experiment station--these contracts would be left on the hands of the trustees without this appropriation to cancel indebtedness honorably made.

In this connection, section VIII. of the act creating the Georgia experimental station,
said:

"That any and all purchases of apparatus etc., made by the trustees of the university of Georgia with the first $15,000, any moneys subsequently drawn which passed into their hands from the United States, under the provisions of the acts of congress approved respectively March 2d, 1887, and July 18th, 1888, and by reason of an executive order from the governor of this state, dated June 14th, 1888, shall be subject to the order of the board of directors hereinbefore provided for, to be used by the latter in furtherance of the provisions of this act."

MR. PECK'S MOTION.

Mr. Peck moved that the committee from the trustees of the state university report to the board of directors how much of the appropriation of $7,500, made by the government for the fiscal year ending July 1st, 1889, is necessary to carry out the contracts already made for this year, and that the report be submitted to the board at 9 o'clock today. Carried.

On motion of Mr. Rushin the board adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

Notes.

The board of directors of the Georgia experiment station are a splendid looking body of men. Solid, sturdy, serious, intelligent, patriotic--they are just the men for the business, and they are going to do a grand work for the good of the state.

Mr. Felix Corput is every inch a practical man. He is as honest as the day is long--and his shrewd directness in cutting to the core of a question is truly admirable. He is presently a safe business man.

Everything that Mr. J. M. Rushin said showed wisdom, prudence, thoughtfulness.
His wide experience as a farmer will prove of great value to the state.

Mr. G. M. Ryals is a massive type of the successful planter. He is a man of few words, speaking only after mature reflection--and wherever he says something it is right to the point.

Mr. P. J. Berkmans is a man of large information and culture--and never fails to enlighten the board when he takes the floor.

Mr. J. B. Park, Jr., is a distinct success. He took right hold as secretary--and a more careful, accurate, industrious and conscientious man could not have been selected to fill the important position.

Mr. W. L. Peck will make a most valuable member of the board. His quickness in seizing a point is equalled only by his strong common sense method of dispatching the business in hand.

Safer, better, stronger men than Messrs.
Wright Brady, J. H. Mobley, Eden Taylor and J. N. Twitty could not have been selected for their respective districts as members of the board. Wise in counsel, and swift in execution they will use their ability and experience for the best interests of the whole state.

Judge John T. Henderson makes an excellent presiding officer. He is attentive, dignified, impartial and full of timely suggestion.
His correct and extensive information--both special and general--of affairs agricultural,
pre-eminently fit him for this honorable place.
Chancellor W. E. Boggs is a very strong man. He has a mind of quick, clear and comprehensive grasp, broad views, and is a thoroughly equipped scholar. In addition to this,

he is a ready, incisive, polished and, withal, an intensely practical debater. He is as much at home in the board as in the pulpit, or the professor's room, and will wield a powerful influence for the good of Georgia.

The services of Professor H. C. White will be simply invaluable to the board and the state. He is a practical and profound chemist, and his wealth of specific and general scientific knowledge is matched only by his plain, modest and charming manner of imparting it. Such a man is indispensable to the board.

THE MAYOR'S SHARP TALK.

necessary survey for the purpose of locating a new water supply for the city.

Mr. Hutchison offered a resolution referring Mayor Glenn's message to a special committee of five, with power to send for persons and papers. The resolution was adopted and the mayor appointed Messrs.
Hutchison, Thompson, Inman, Haas and Meader as that committee.

The refusal of gas lamp posts were stopped by a resolution by Mr. Hutchison.

The fire department committee granted building permits to:

W. H. Hammond, corner Washington and Fair streets; Keely & Co., 62 and 64 Whitehall street; W. A. Fuller, 16 Magnolia street; Rose Warren, 16 Calhoun; W. D. Smith, 28, 30
Decatur street; Dennis 246 Marietta street; Emma McCann, 97 East Hunter street;
W. T. Rove, 272 Marietta street; Mrs. M. M.
O'Brien, Loyd street.

The police committee reported favorably
upon these petitions for liquor licenses:

Mr. M. Meckleberry, wholesale, 61 Alabama
street.

J. Stenheimer & Co., wholesale, 36 Wall
street.

J. L. Wooten, in the Kimball house.
Bluthenthal & Bickart, wholesale, 46 Marietta street.

P. J. Kenny, wholesale, 40 Decatur street.

W. N. Brown, beer license, 273 Peters street.

The street committee recommended the expenditure of $1,000 on Mills street for a permanent grade and setting curbing, etc.; $500 for curbing and sidewalks on Cooper; $300 on Richardson; $1,000 on Jones street; $200 on Little street; $250 on Plum street; $200
on Mangum street; $1,000 on Luckie street; $1,000 on North avenue; $500 on Baker; $200 on Fort.

Mr. Haas introduced a resolution making a public park out of the strip of land at the intersection of Fair, Loyd and Fulliam streets.
It went to the park committee.

The office of boiler inspector was abolished
by a resolution of Mr. Thompson.

Mr. Thompson proposed a resolution authorizing the street committee and board of fire masters to investigate and report as to the propriety and necessity of taking up the unused tracks of the Atlanta street car company on Broad and Marietta streets.

"The fire department," said the gentleman,
"has lost two horses by those tracks."

The motion was adopted.

Messrs. Haas, Hutchison and Inman were appointed a committee on legislation.

The street committee was authorized to purchase eight mules.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions, with many others,
were presented and referred to the appropriate committees:

By Mr. McDaniel--That stone curbing and brick walks be put down on Hilliard street, from Decatur to Vine.

By Mr. Hemphill--That the committee on printing be directed to have published in pamphlet form the ordinances adopted since the completion of the city code.

By Mr. Haas--That an arc light be placed at Georgia and Capitol avenue.

By Mr. Meader--That an arc light be placed at Whitehall and Humphreys.

By Mr. Howell--That the rear end of the lot of
No. 4 engine house be paved with broken blocks.

By Mr. Middlebrooks--That the tax committee be authorized to purchase an iron safe.

By Mr. Meador--He it ordained by the mayor and general council:

Section 1. That the ordinance adopted September 8, 1888, providing for the election of a fifth captain of police and a third stationhouse keeper, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 2. That hereafter only two guards shall be elected for the city.

Sec. 3. All ordinances and resolutions in conflict with this are hereby repealed.

All derangements of the kidneys and liver, pains in the back, tired feelings, and weakness cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The medicine is purely vegetable. It is sold by all druggists.

Consumption, Wasting Diseases
And General Debility. Doctors disagree as to the relative value of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites:
the one supplying strength and flesh, the other giving nerve power, and acting as a tonic to the digestive and entire system. But in Hood's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites
the two are combined, and the effect is wonderful.
Thousands who have derived no permanent benefit from other preparations have been cured by this.
Hood's Emulsion is perfect in its nature and is easily digested by those who cannot tolerate plain Cod Liver Oil.

Coming to Atlanta.

Six doctors of the Great English Staff of Physicians and Surgeons will arrive at the Markham house, Atlanta, Ga., on the 10th of February.

All who visit the doctors before the 10th of February will receive services for the next three months free of charge. The only favor desired is a recommendation from those whom they cure. These English physicians treat every variety of disease, and deformity, but will not accept an incurable case. If your malady is beyond all hope they will frankly tell you, also caution you against spending money for unnecessary treatment. Remember dates:
on early, as they are crowded from morning till night. Office hours: 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
Sundays: 10 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

Dr. W. L. Peck, who cured my son, a cold most severe case of membranous croup, after we had given up all hopes of his recovery. Since then we keep Cheney's Croup Remedy constantly at hand, and recommend it to our neighbors.
